BARRETT ACTS TO BREAK UP 'SHUFFLE' APPEAL' PRACTICE

Professional Bondsmen of St. Louis Succeed in Escaping Payment of Forfeitures Under Method.

MANY OF CONVICTED PARTIES FUGITIVES

Writs Filed With Supreme Court Permitted to Remain in Clerk's Office; Dismissal Motions Made.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 1.—St. Louis professional bondsmen have taken advantage of the so-called "supreme court shuffle," used in the past, and still used, as a means by which persons convicted of crime escape serving their sentences.

Attorney-General Barrett has found that the "shuffle," though exposed several years ago, has again been used, in behalf of both convicted persons and of bondsmen whose clients are fugitives.

The Attorney-General has prepared a list of 10 cases, in which the defendants are fugitives, and the bond forfeitures, long overdue, have remained unpaid while the bondsmen, having filed appeals from the forfeitures, leave their appeals unperfected in the Supreme Court. He will ask that the bondsmen's appeals be dismissed, and that the bondsmen be required to pay the amounts legally forfeited. The St. Louis cases are the last:

Joseph Peckie, two cases, bonds $800 and $2000; bondsmen, H. Marczewski and Robert Miller; appeal granted Nov. 26, 1919.

Mike Gilligan, $800 forfeiture, bondsmen Charles Nash; appeal granted Nov. 26, 1919.

Robert Conway, $500 forfeiture; bondsmen Sam Prussen; appeal granted May 31, 1919.

Ben Robinson, $1000 forfeiture; bondsmen Henry Henning; appeal granted Oct. 17, 1919.

Harry Howard, $800 forfeiture, bondsmen John Kelly; appeal granted Feb. 3, 1922.

Lyle Sanson, $500 forfeiture, bondsmen Tim Lavin; appeal granted Oct. 2, 1920.

Lizzie Ritter, $500 forfeiture, bondsmen John Kelly and Charles Nash; appeal granted Feb. 3, 1922.

James Brendle, $5000 forfeiture, bondsmen Kelly and Nash; appeal granted Feb. 3, 1922.

As applied to convicted persons, the "supreme court shuffle" means that the convicted person files an appeal, but fails to take the necessary steps to perfect it. Until the appeal is perfected, a transcript of the evidence, the clerk of the Supreme Court has no record of the appeal, but the case lies in the hands of the clerk of the Supreme Court. One year is allowed for perfecting an appeal, but a sort of hiatus, as the Attorney-General terms it, between the filing of the appeal and the clerk of the county circuit clerk and those of the Supreme Court clerk before the case for dismissal when the year has elapsed.

Motions to dismiss have been filed in 11 such cases, and they have been dismissed by the Supreme Court, so that the convicted persons will have to begin serving their sentences. The two St. Louis cases among these were:

Ernest Hubbard, sentenced to three-year term for larceny from person; appeal granted Dec. 22, 1921.

The nine other cases are from various counties, and include one case of murder in the first degree and two of murder in the second degree. The dates of granting the appeals run as far back as May, 1920.

Thirteen Other Motions Filed. Motions to dismiss were filed today in 13 similar cases, none of them from St. Louis, dating back as far as December, 1919. In checking up the lapsed cases, the Attorney-General has been in correspondence with the prosecuting attorneys of all the counties in the state, and the circuit attorney of St. Louis.

Clerk Blames Barrett's Office. J. D. Allen, clerk of the State Supreme Court, says responsibility for failure to notify local prosecuting authorities, in cases where criminal appeals have been granted, but in

2 MURDERERS TAKEN ON VACATION BY GOVERNOR OF OHIO

Go to Canadian Woods With Executive Party—Both Are Life-Term Convicts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Gov. Donahey's latest innovation is to take for a two weeks' vacation in the Canadian woods two convicts serving life terms for murder in the penitentiary.

The Governor and Warden Thomas departed for Kibokunk, Ont., yesterday with Thomas' son, Don, and Donahey's six sons. They also took Earl Jennings, sentenced in 1916 from Butler County to serve a life term for murder, and Zipriani, sentenced to life in 1916 from Cuyahoga County for second degree murder. Zipriani has been cook and Jennings has been chauffeur for the Governor's family for several months. Jennings has the blood of two men on his hands, according to the statements of the trial judge and prosecuting attorney in the pardon files. "The general opinion in Middleburg was that this was a most outrageous affair," said Judge Walter S. Harean, speaking of Jennings' crime. "Three men were assaulted without any cause, two of them killed, and the public justice is indignant."

Jennings was sentenced for killing James Nicholas by beating him to death with a fence rail. Another man he assaulted at the same time also died.

RUSH OF ALIENS HEAVIEST KNOWN AT ELLIS ISLAND

Day's Total Expected to Be 20,000 Thousands on Ocean Will Find Quotas Filled.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Immigration officials today were in the midst of the heaviest rush of aliens in the history of Ellis Island. Almost 12,000 immigrants crossed the imaginary line from Gravesend Bay to quarantine within ten minutes after the stroke of midnight, when the new monthly quota opened.

Cocaine said he would rush them through the island as fast as possible, but did not expect to handle more than 2000 a day. At least eight, and probably more, quotas will be filled within a few hours he expected.

Thousands must remain aboard their ships for at least a week during the day the total of arriving aliens is expected to reach at least 21,000. Many more are on the Atlantic. These thousands will arrive after their countries' quotas have been filled.

RESOLUTIONS BACK MUSSOLINI

National Council of Fascism Points to Accomplishments.

By the Associated Press. ROME, Aug. 1.—The national council of Fascism has adopted resolutions summarizing the results of the recent session held at the Venetian Palace. The resolutions state that the organization, which developed from disorganized conditions, has now demonstrated its administrative ability and that hundreds of thousands of black shirt constitute an invincible army ready to uphold the constituted government.

Civil strife has been calmed and the nation, based on the solid foundation of confidence, is said. The resolutions close with a tribute to Mussolini as "the chief who has proved a sure and inflexible guide, and to whom Fascism pledges its unwavering loyalty."

Snow Kills Crops in Alberta.

By the Associated Press. CALGARY, Alberta, Aug. 1.—Snow in midsummer killed the crops 15 miles west of here, and the foothills are white. Snow is reported in Banff, Edmonton and Clarion. A minimum temperature of 28 degrees above zero was registered in some sections.

An Estate or a Bungalow

Both may mean "home" if you are the owner. And why not? There are real homes in and around St. Louis that are awaiting those owners who wisely value their value and buy them on the splendid terms of selection, which many of them are offered.

Be one of these wise ones. Both estate and bungalow are offered in the Real Estate columns of the Post-Dispatch. They give prospective home owners a wide range of selection, liberal terms of sale and the opportunity to be happily satisfied and free from moving worries.

Read the "Real Estate" column today and then see the owners or agents for terms. Mutual satisfaction will result.

SAYS HE SOLD "HOOTCH" AT CHASE DRUG STORE

Clerk Declares That Synthetic Whisky, Flsely Labeled, Was Given to "Anyone With the Price."

TELLS OF BETTER KIND FOR PRESCRIPTIONS

Admits Sale to Special Police Police Officer—Held With Proprietor on Bonds of $1000 Each.

J. Edwin Craig, proprietor of the Chase Drug Store in Hotel Chase, and Fred Krenning, a clerk in the store, were bound over today under $1000 bonds each on charges of violating the national prohibition law. Bonds were fixed after a hearing before United States Commissioner Berry. The drug store was raided July 23 by Federal prohibition enforcement agents led by Gus O. Nations, head of prohibition enforcement here.

Krenning, urged by his father to tell the facts, admitted selling liquor to Eugene Canda, a special officer of the Police Department, and said the store kept two kinds of liquor in stock. One was a synthetic whisky, bearing the false label of a formerly well-known brand, which was sold to "anyone with the price," he said. The other, Krenning asserted, was kept in a vault, corresponding to the name "box swindle."

The government permit and was sold only on prescriptions. Craig refused to make any statement. The case against J. P. Struckmeier, also named as proprietor, was placed in a box which was to hold the store, was dismissed, as no evidence was introduced to connect him with the place.

As is known, Nations, at the head of agents and policemen, raided the hotel dining room last New Year's eve and a fight followed in which a guest was wounded. The management of the hotel asserted after the raid on the drug store that the hotel had nothing to do with the store beyond leasing the space it occupied.

BUILDING PERMITS ALREADY NEARLY EQUAL 1922 TOTAL

Cost of Work Authorized in Seven Months $10,193,557 More Than in Same Period Last Year.

Building permits issued in St. Louis in the first seven months of this year, ending July 31, authorized new construction and alterations costing $23,332,330, an increase of $10,193,557 over the total in the same period of 1922. The number of permits issued was 8479, as compared with 7135 in the same period last year, an increase of 1344. The seven-month total is within $187,171 of that for the entire year of 1922.

Each month of the current year has shown increasing activity in building. In July, 1280 permits were issued for structures estimated to cost $2,906,453 when completed. This was an increase in number of 126 and $920,516 in cost. As was told in the Post-Dispatch June 30, 17 large projects, estimated at $15,035,000 before building costs began a new rise, are being held up for a more favorable market. Smaller projects, including many homes, are being delayed for the same reason.

The total number of permits issued in 1922 was 13,589 for construction aggregating $25,210,503.

110 IN CENTRAL KANSAS

Medicine Lodge Hottest Place in United States Yesterday. TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 1.—The highest temperature in the United States yesterday was 110 at Medicine Lodge, in south-central Kansas, according to reports received at the weather bureau here today. The highest temperature reports were from Anthony, Hays, Ellettswood and Phillipsburg, 106; Larned, 105; Garden City, Hutchinson and Elsworth, 104; Dodge City and Wichita, 102.

EX-CROWN PRINCE VISITS DAD

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Aug. 1.—Former Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany is staying for a few weeks at the residence of his father, former Emperor William, at Doorn, Holland, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Doorn. He is kept busy meeting many arrivals from Germany. The ex-Crown Prince refused to be interviewed with reference to royalist activities and when asked if he intended to return to Germany soon, laughed heartily.

St. Louis Busses Carry 880,000 Passengers in First Two Months

Date of Starting Crosstown Lines on Grand Boulevard Depends on Arrival of More Vehicles, Says Company Official.

The People's Motor Bus Co., which started operations on May 29, just about two months ago, has carried more than 880,000 passengers. Of this number 130,000 were carried to and from the Municipal Opera. The average number of passengers a day is about 12,500, inclusive of opera guests. There are 17 busses in operation, the company having a total of 20, which gives them three in reserve, as they estimate this number is necessary for overhauling and repairs from day to day.

Augustus Barnes, official, said today that the owners and officials were well satisfied with the results of the last two months. Richard W. Meade, the general manager, is now in New York, Barnes said, endeavoring to accelerate the shipment of busses which have been ordered.

Barnes says the company plans to have a total of 50 busses for St. Louis service, 40 for the Washington-Delmar line, and 40 for a proposed cross-town line running on Grand boulevard. He could not say when the cross-town line would be started, as this depends on the arrival of more vehicles.

The company is erecting a brick garage, costing $150,000, at South King's highway and Grand boulevard. The building will be of two stories, having a floor space of 62,000 square feet, and will be the chief shop of the company. On the second floor will be recreation rooms for the employees, 150 of whom are now employed. The building is expected to be finished in about two months.

ANOTHER SWINDLE LAID TO MAN POLICE KILLED

Wojcik Identified by Saloon Keeper as Stranger Who Worked "Box Trick" on Him.

Additional data as to alleged criminal activities of James (Zigmund) Wojcik, who was shot and killed by city detectives in his home, 3761 Finney avenue, Sunday night, was obtained by police today when Mat Kostelec, proprietor of a saloon at 4632 Virginia avenue, identified Wojcik's body as that of a man who obtained $1.00 from him on July 23, placed in a box which was to hold the store, was dismissed, as no evidence was introduced to connect him with the place.

The money was inherited, Kostelec was told, and the present possessor was seeking some honest man to distribute it among the poor. Kostelec was voted a suitable introduction if he could furnish a cash deposit to guarantee proper distribution. Wojcik gave the men his total savings. He said the money was in a box which he was to hold. When he later opened the box the money was not there.

Wojcik was declared yesterday to have been the friend and sponsor of the investigation. Wojcik was the man who was accused of a $33,000 swindle in that county a few years ago, and who broke jail. When this man was arrested later he could not be prosecuted because the witnesses had disappeared. Wojcik also is said to have been the sponsor of a man suspected of theft of $6000 from the home of a Polish family at Desloge, St. Francois County.

Wojcik and his brother-in-law, Walter Boroski or Brzozowski, were both killed in the former's house, when detectives entered the place, according to the report. Because a disturbance was being created, after entering the detectives met resistance. The two men were killed and two detectives were wounded during an exchange of revolver shots. A quantity of equipment used in manufacture of liquor was found in the place later. Police say the entire premises was used for manufacture, storage and private sale of liquor, the "soft drink" place in the basement being only a means of entrance to the upper floors.

Wojcik was a man of about 35 years, of medium build, with dark hair, and a mustache. He was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt with a dark tie.

He was identified by a man who was with him at the time of the shooting. The man said that Wojcik was a stranger to him, but that he had seen him in a saloon in the city.

ASTOR DRY BILL NOW LAW

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Aug. 1.—Royal assent was given yesterday to Lady Astor's liquor bill, thus formally placing it upon the statute books. The bill, which prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors to any person under 18 years old, was passed by the House of Lords last Tuesday.

DWELLS ON 10TH FLOOR TO ESCAPE HAY FEVER

James R. Harris Interns Self High Above Street for Six Weeks Every Year.

If you are a victim of hay fever and want to escape its ravages you do not have to go North—you can go up.

That, in effect, is the advice of James R. Harris, first vice president and general manager of Busch-Sulzer Bros. Diesel Engine Co., who is preparing for an annual period of voluntary internment far above street level at the Missouri Athletic Association, to dodge the dust which he believes carries the sneeze-and-misery producing imp of hay fever.

Nearly every year for 10 years, the Post-Dispatch learned today, Harris has forsaken a pleasant home at 445 Algonquin place, Webster Groves, with tree-shaded and bird-cheered lawn, to take up temporary residence at the M. A. A. Here is his story:

"I believe as others do, that hay fever comes from the ragweed pollen carried in the air in late summer, and blown from the country into the city streets. It seems to me that this pollen-laden dust can be escaped by going high up in a building down town, so I follow that procedure. For 39 years, since I was a boy of 13, I have had hay fever. I have tried all sorts of remedies, but come to the conclusion there is no cure for it. There is some sort of new serum I haven't tried, but I am skeptical about it."

First Sneeze on Aug. 15. "Northern Wisconsin and the White Mountains, where I had hoped to go this summer, are fine places to escape hay fever, but one cannot always get away from town. Every year, promptly on August 15, I get my first twinge of the trouble; maybe just a sneeze. I never bother about it in advance, or even think about it, until the twinge seems to be any psychological reason for this regularity. Along about Oct. 1 or a little earlier the trouble is over."

"My plan is to go up in the M. A. A. and stay there most of the time. I have a fine room reserved now at the southwest corner of the tenth floor, because business will keep me in town during this period. Neither do I go in the swimming pool at the M. A. A.—I wouldn't think of it for fear of starting that sneeze. I don't even take a shower without a rubber cap. Instead of going to the gymnasium I take exercises in my room."

"If, as has happened, I have to make a business trip during this period I'll simply have to make the trip up tight and stay inside as much as possible. When I sleep at the club sometimes I can leave the windows open, if it is hot. Of course it's noisy down there, but I have done night work in my lifetime and can sleep under most any circumstances."

Harris said he regarded hay fever as a "cleansing process," because it cleared the breathing passages, and added that, if saved him from colds and kindred afflictions. On the whole, he has few regrets over the necessities to which nature has put him.

"UNDYING LOVE" NOT MENTIONED IN MAXWELL CABLES

Copies of Messages Exchanged With Mrs. A. A. Ryan Fail to Substantiate State's Brief in Case.

NOW PART OF THE COURT RECORD

Expression "Beaucoup Courage" Used and Several Letters the Two Had Exchanged Referred To.

By Leased Wire From The New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Copies of radiograms and cable messages alleged to have been exchanged between Mrs. Allan A. Ryan and George Maxwell, head of the American Association of Authors, Composers and Publishers, on file with the Clerk of General Sessions Court, fail to support the assertion that Mrs. Ryan addressed communications to Maxwell expressing "undying love" and saying she wished he were the father of her children.

These messages, now part of the record in the scurrilous letter case, were strongly refuted by the purpose to indicate that Mrs. Ryan and Maxwell were in almost daily communication last winter, although separated by the Atlantic and that they had an appointment to meet in Paris last March, the month in which Allan A. Ryan received the anonymous letters commenting on their friendship.

Letters Referred To. Most of the messages contain the expression "beaucoup courage," or its English equivalent, "much courage," and several refer to letters the two were exchanging, but in none does the word "love" appear.

Mrs. Ryan is alleged to have sent a radio to Maxwell from the steamship Reliance Oct. 1 last, which, translated into English, read: "Much courage and need of you," and the same day is said to have received a radio from him saying: "Your desire strongly reciprocated, eternal courage," or, the message was worded in French, "Tes desir fortement, échanges courage eternal."

One message from Maxwell to Mrs. Ryan indicates he was "late," Feb. 25 last, because he had received "no news 10 days." Another, said to have been received by Maxwell from Mrs. Ryan as she sailed on the steamship Paris earlier in March for France, where she was sojourning, reads: "Bon voyage, eternal courage, longing, impatient."

Others are in similar vein, and the last message, dated March 12 and purporting to have been sent by Mrs. Ryan to Maxwell at Le Havre, where his steamer landed, reads: "Everything arranged, meet Westminster, supreme courage, waiting impatiently."

Appear to Contradict Brief. The messages, as a whole, appear to contradict charges made in the brief, which purports to have been drawn by Assistant District Attorney Edwin P. Kilroe and was filed last week.

That brief referred to the allegation that the scurrilous letter received by Ryan asserted that Mrs. Ryan had sent Maxwell the "undying love" message, and other endearing communications which were set forth in the brief. The brief then read: "The testimony before the grand jury shows that every statement contained in the letter is true."

The absence of such testimony in the record of the grand jury investigation and in the file of messages received by Ryan, however, corroborate denials by Mrs. Ryan.

HUSBAND OF FORMER WIFE OF SENATOR PLATT DIED OF

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Examined in supplementary proceedings yesterday in the Supreme Court on a judgment for $15,491 obtained by Salvatore Coppola, banker, William E. Atwater, attorney, who married Mrs. Lillian Jane Weller Platt, widow of Senator Thomas Collier Platt, testified his bank balance is $5 and that during the last nine months he has earned practically nothing.

"But how do you live," questioned Jonah Goldstein, attorney for Coppola. "My wife makes up any deficit in our household expenses and we live at Central Valley, Orange County, in the home which was given to her by Senator Platt," replied Atwater. The judgment against Atwater, in addition to one for $15,890 against the Crystal Chemical Co., Inc., of Charleston, S. C., of which he is president, was obtained by Coppola on notes the banker alleged were induced by Atwater.

Lieut. Atwater was an aviator with the American army in France. After his secret marriage to Senator Platt's widow, her fourth venture, Sept. 5, 1911, at Suffern, he did not return to France.

BULLETIN ISSUED BY DOCTORS IN ATTENDANCE ON PRESIDENT HARDING

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.

FOLLOWING is the bulletin issued by the physicians attending President Harding at 10:10 a. m. today (12:10 p. m. Central time):

"The President is fairly comfortable this morning, after a few hours of sleep. His breathing is less labored and there is but little cough. The lung condition is about the same as yesterday. He is still much exhausted, but maintains his normal buoyancy of spirit. Small amounts of food are being taken regularly, and there is regular and satisfactory elimination. The temperature is 99 degrees, pulse 114, respiration 30. While progress is being made, every care is necessary to assure freedom from further complications."

WOMEN WITH LOW-NECK BOWNS TURNED BACK AT VATICAN GATES

Short Sleeves Also Barred—Tears and Protests of Those Excluded Go Unheeded.

(Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.) ROME, Aug. 1.—When a group of fashionably dressed women was about to enter the bronze gates of the Vatican yesterday for a Papal audience they were stopped by a gesture from Monsignor Marmagli, newly appointed Apostolic Delegate from Jugo-Slavia.

Mrs. Marmagli then separated the women into two parties, one a small one, of women wearing gowns with high necks and long sleeves, and the other, a large one, of women with short sleeves and low-necked dresses. In explanation he said:

"Only those decently dressed are allowed to enter. The Holy Father has forbidden immodest dresses in the Palace."

The tears and protests of the majority were unheeded by the Swiss Guards, who barred entrance. The handful was admitted.

Some of the women refused admittance hastily visited nearby stores and bought quantities of tulle with which they draped their arms and necks, after which they were allowed to enter.

CHARGES WIFE TOOK EFFECTS WORTH $80,000 FROM HOME

With Judgment for $7075 Against Him Man Tells How Rooms Were Stripped.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—George C. Lewis, 50, examined today in the Supreme Court after a judgment for $7075.78 had been taken against him by the Blue Ridge Coal Co., declared his young wife had stripped their apartment of $80,000 worth of property, leaving him without even a bed sheet, and then had disappeared.

Mrs. Lewis, formerly of Baltimore, he said, had taken everything out of the apartment while he was at a picture show one afternoon.

PRESIDENT IS CONTINUING TO IMPROVE; THE CRISIS PASSED

Statement by Dr. Sawyer at 8 a. m. Says Mr. Harding Spent Very Restful Night—'Virtually Out of the Woods,' Is Feeling Among His Physicians.

SPEEDY RECOVERY NOW INDICATED

'There Are No Cold Feet,' Executive Remarks to an Attendant—Encouraging Tone of Bulletins Is Reflected Generally.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, Who Accompanied President Harding on His Tour.

PALACE HOTEL, SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Optimism over the President's condition was further heightened by today's bulletins. He spent a restful night and at 8 a. m. his temperature had reached to 99, or only a trifle above normal. His pulse stood at 114 and his respiration was 40 and regular. All the signs at that hour showed steady progress toward a normal condition.

At 10:10 a. m. a formal bulletin, signed by the five attending physicians, said that the President, though much exhausted, maintained his normal buoyancy of spirit. The temperature was still 99 degrees, and the President was breathing with less labor and there was little cough.

Talk of Return Trip. Plans were discussed today for the return trip to Washington, with opinion growing that it would be safe to start the trip by the end of this week. This view, however, had no official sanction.

Dr. Joel T. Boone of the staff of five physicians made it plain that the train journey would not be undertaken till the President was absolutely out of danger. At best, he said, the journey would have its discomforts, and warm weather would be encountered both on the way and back in Washington. There is no better place for the President to be during his illness than right here, where the weather is cool, said Dr. Boone.

All indications now point to President Harding's speedy recovery. The general feeling among his physicians is that he is virtually "out of the woods." This is his own belief, expressed to Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work.

Work, a former president of the American Medical Association and one of the five doctors attending the President, said last night the curve of his illness was now running in the right direction, and barring some unforeseen complication, would continue that way.

"The mental attitude of the President is helping," said Dr. Work. He related an incident of the sick room by way

WHEAT RATE CUT WULDN'T LAID EXPORTS

Island President Asserts It Would Merely Decrease
Railroad Revenue.

Associated Press.
CAGO, Aug. 1.—A reduction in wheat rates on the island requested of the western men, would not stimulate the sale of those commodities,

J. H. Gorman, president of the Chicago Island and Pacific railroad, in a letter to John L. Kennedy,

the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, letter explaining the decision of the railroad executives here.
Gorman stated that the reduction proposed was made public to Gorman, as acting chairman of the western railroad presidents committee.

Now to U. S. Would Gain.
The question has received careful consideration at the hands of the very great importance of the Gorman wrote, after expressing that the railroad represented at the meeting here on 30.

However, the grain exporting trade
quite a difference of views expressed by yourself. Various experienced and well posted dealers take the position that proposed reduction in American rates were accomplished, thereupon, lower quotations appeared abroad, thus reduced quotations would be immediately met by exporting quotations from Argentina, Canada and other countries possessing an exportable surplus which is not in the United States.
Under these conditions, we are convinced that the effect of the proposed reduction would be to decrease the revenue of the American railroads, which decreases would be paid by the European dealer or importer, which, of course, would injure the movement of goods from the United States.

Institution of test cases to obtain court interpretation of the new pro-

the last Missouri Legislature is un-Siderer. He said today he virtually had decided upon that plan. It is probable no effort will be made to prosecute violations of the felony sections of the law until a judicial construction is placed on them.

St. Louis Orchid Hunter Describes Difficulty of Search in Tropical Forests of Panama and Colombia

GOT 5200 ORCHIDS

Natives Proved Unreliable
and Orchids, Growing a Hundred Feet in Air Amid Dense Foliage of Giant Trees, Proved Hard to Get

G. H. Pring, horticulturist of the Missouri Botanical Garden, who has been absent four months on an orchid expedition to Colombia and Panama, returned today, with a report of approximately 5200 orchid plants added to the garden's collection, fulfilling the expectation that the garden will possess the largest and most varied orchid collection in the continent, if not in the world.
Included in the expedition's specimens are Panamanian orchids hitherto unknown to the United States.
Pring's shipment is the only importation of the rare plants to reach this country in the last six years. Most of them came 30 days' journey from the heart of the Cordillera range of the Andes Mountains.

A reporter for the Post-Dispatch who met Pring at Terre Haute, Ind., heard from him a tale of disillusionment—the replacement of his expectation of romantic adventure with an experience of hardships and the birth of a conviction that there are more orchids in the United States than in their native South American mountain fastnesses.

Pring is disillusioned.
"I confess," Pring said, "that I departed from St. Louis with anticipation of a holiday akin to a comfortable journey to the Meramec bluffs for native Missouri flowers. About arrived, I was to wade through a forest of nothing more than a few plants discrimination was to pick only the choicest, cram as many plants as I wanted into cases and dispatch them to St. Louis, where they would be burst forth to the eyes of the garden's public in all their colorful grandeur.
Well, the garden's annual orchid show will have the grandeur of a cer-tainity, but—"

"On the boat that was carrying me from New Orleans I felt with me a man Black, American, chief factor in the coffee exporting of Colombia, a resident there of 14 years. I divulged the purpose of my visit to him, and he looked at me curiously.
"Pring," he said, "I'll help you all I can," and he went off into roars of laughter. "Believe me, you need help, and again he shook. "You'll see."

"Rescue by Many Difficulties."
Black would tell the folk aboard:
"You know, Pring, on his way to pick flowers in Colombia, and his glee at the thought of his mission. Before we reached the Colombian seaboard, I mentioned that I carried a letter to one Cyril Allen in Bogota
and was looking to him for less laughter and more help.

"Pring," Black replied with his first show of seriousness, "I know Allen. He and I may pull you through."

"A month after departing from St. Louis, I arrived in Bogota and presented my letter of introduction to Allen, an orchid collector of the past, and now turned to more matterial riches—"

"After the courtesies of greeting,
"How long are you going to stay, Mr.
Pring?"
"Six weeks," I replied. He looked at me in amazement. "Six months,"
you mean? "No, six weeks," Black never had regarded me so curiously."

"How are you going to get them,
may I ask?"
"I stammered something about
"just getting out and getting them,"
and Allen went off into laughter.
They hid away, like any modest boy, upon trees shut from sight 100 feet in the air. Orchid hunting is real hunting. Frequently when the plants are searched out it is necessary to tell the tree to gather them."

"Pring," said Allen, "you'll never find them."

2 WOMEN HELD IN STOCK ROOM
Violation of Arkansas Anti-Bucket-Shop Law Charged.
By the Associated Press.
EL DORADO, Ark., Aug. 1.—Two women were arrested last night by State officers in connection with a controversy growing out of the sale of stock of the Drover lease hold pool. Mrs. C. C. Anderson, a stenographer in the office of the Commissioner of Brokersage Co., and Miss
R. Gustafson of the Mid-Continent Brokersage Co. of Eldorado, were taken into custody. Two other warrants remain to be served.
Bond was immediately arranged for both women. Attorneys for the brokersage firms announced they would bring the case into open court here and declared they would produce evidence to show that behind the sale of the Drover lease hold pool stock was a ring that made fraudulent sales to pay dividends and that its purpose was to buy Drover stock short. They charged a conspiracy to defraud on the part of the Drover interests. The women were charged with violation of the State anti-bucket-shop law.

gather orchids. You must leave that to the native Indians. Suppose you did start for the orchid country. The world of your coming would precede you. The American is coming. The first place, you can't trust them.
In the second place, "mananas,"
That's what Allen says six months.
Not six weeks. Never trust a native, Pring. My guess is you don't get the orchids."

"Natives Demand Heavy Fees."
"There's one chance," said Allen.
"I know two Indians who will get them if any one will—one in the land of the catflea Trianae, which you desire. The other, in the region of the Schroederia, but frankly, don't count on the Schroederia."

Passing on to Jamaica, Pring obtained from the Hope Botanical Garden, 100 tree ferns and about 50 Jamaican orchids of types never before introduced into this country and a collection of economic plants to enlarge the economic display at the garden. In addition to the orchids, Pring prepared herbarium or dried specimens of about 400 forms of Colombian plant life and sent them through to the Garden.

Arriving in New York, Pring was able to get specimens there had not already preceded him through customs by virtue of a Department of Agriculture dispensation excepting his collection from a quarantine order effective for the last six years which has shut out all orchids.

He was met in New York by Mrs.
Pring and his four children who had motored from St. Louis. He returned with them by automobile from New York.

"We made 550 miles today from Columbus," he told the reporter.
"Coming out from Bogota to Co-lombia's Pacific port, it took four days to travel 110 miles by horse and mule. The mountains, the grief of that forsores country is forgotten—we got the orchids."

EDWARD LINDBORST, 33 YEARS OLD,
of 3915 Holt avenue, was taken to city hospital today after he had slashed his throat and left wrist with a barbed knife.

"Thus the garden has come into possession of 50 cases or about 5200 plants of Cattleya Trianae, one of the most gorgeous orchids that flowers, a rich mauve with broad purple lip, coming 30 days from the heart of the Andes from spots that the native guard as zealously as the American fisherman does his trout stream. This shipment already has

Two youths implicated in Third in Breaking Into Residence of Lieutenant-Governor.

Two young men held for burglary at police headquarters today are bemoaning the fact that the house
they picked to rob was the residence of Lieutenant-Governor Hiram Lloyd, at 1212 Clara avenue. Jewelry and other personal effects, valued at $500, taken in the burglary, has virtually all been recovered, following the arrest of three young men yesterday on a charge of entering the Lloyd residence.

Two of the young men, who gave the names of Martin Caplan, 21 years old, of 915 North Fifteenth street, and Daniel O'Brien, 20, of 5523 Theodora avenue, have confessed to police and admitted to reporters that they entered the Lloyd residence, James Carmody, 16, of 1327 Montclair avenue, said by Caplan and O'Brien to have been with them, denies participation in the burglary.

Story of Prisoners.
O'Brien and Caplan say they, with Carmody, were at O'Brien's home the afternoon of the robbery, drinking whiskey. They were to meet three girls that night at Creve Coeur Lake, but had no money.

They started down Clara avenue ringing door bells. There was no answer to the ring at the Lloyd residence. They kicked in a basement door, broke through a door leading up from the basement and ransacked
the house. They found, in the loot,
a Masonic charm set with diamonds, 19, of 2445 Ladin avenue, who frightened them, O'Brien and Caplan said, and they decided to mail the charm back. O'Brien said he mailed it. It was subsequently received by Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd.

Caplan took two stick pins to a Franklin avenue pawn shop, where he received $15 for them. He returned $5, giving O'Brien $10 to split with Carmody. They met the girls.
Traced Through Pawn Tickets.
Several days later O'Brien gave the pawn tickets to Forest Fuqua, who sold them for $2 in a saloon at Nineteenth and Olive streets. The purchaser immediately took them to the pawn shop. Detectives previously had located the pins and when the ticket appeared the man was arrested. He said he got them from Fuqua, whom he knew. Fuqua said he got them from O'Brien. The latter at first said he found them.

a worthless check but was paroled.
He was sentenced to the workhouse for failure to pay a fine but was pa-

WHISKY SHIPPER'S CIRCULARS DISCUSSED IN PARLIAMENT

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Government was asked in the House of Commons today what it was going to do about the business circular being published in the name of Sir Roderick Hartwell, seeking investors in a project for shipping whisky abroad. Ronald MacNeill, under-secretary for foreign affairs, answered guardedly that the whole subject to which the circular belongs is engaging the attention of the Government.

Further than that he declined to say.

Dr. William Allen Chapple, member of Dumfriesshire, who asked the question, supplemented it later and referred to the backers of the liquor scheme, as "these people who are endeavoring to set at defiance the laws of a friendly nation." Dr. Chapple wanted to know whether "it is not more important to preserve friendly relations with America than that these people should make money out of this traffic."

"Certainly," replied MacNeill, "but I'm not in a position at the present moment to say what steps we could take as it is a very difficult matter to decide."

The circulars describe a plan on making 20 per cent profit every 60 days by shipping liquor to what obviously is toward the American coast.

Sharp Pricing That Will Quickly Dispose of All
Remaining Summer
Merchandise

A RULE of many years'
standing at this store—not to carry merchandise in the next season, prompts us to reduce without regard to original cost or selling price, thousands of Summer needs.

Yellow price cards throughout the entire store will point the way to big economies—many weeks of good use still remain for these goods. No other reason than to make room for Fall goods causes this determined effort.

TECHNICALITY FREES CONVICTED BANK CLERK

Shaw Case Dismissed for Failure to Show Bank Belonged to Federal Reserve.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today reversed the lower court on a technicality and ordered dismissal of the case against Hiram C. Shaw, a bank clerk of Hot Springs, Ark., who was convicted last year of embezzlement of $6340 from the Citizens' National Bank of Hot Springs and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

The reversal was based on the technical fact that the prosecution made no mention in the pleadings, and submitted no proof in the evidence, as required by the law for the protection of national banks, that the Citizens' National Bank was a member of the Federal Reserve.

Failing to make this plea or submit such proof, the court holds, does not bring the case within the purview of the law under which the indictment was returned.

The indictment charges that Shaw made 30 false entries on certificates of deposits, taking funds therefrom. He was discharged from the bank June 21, 1932, and a week later the bank was entered at night by unknown persons and records bearing on the charges against Shaw were stolen. He was subsequently indicted on testimony of bank examiners. Counsel for Shaw argued that the evidence of bank examiners without the records was not sufficient, but the Circuit Court of Appeals ruled to the contrary, holding that the evidence was sufficient, setting forth that the lower court would have been upheld had the pleadings or evidence shown that the bank was a member of the Federal Reserve.

Shaw was in St. Louis in January, 1932. He attached the trunks of Mrs. Elaine Lee Harris, wife of Beverly D. Harris, president of the Monsanto Chemical Co., at Hotel Statler, on a promissory note for $2100, borrowed money, which he said he lent Mrs. Harris at Excelsior Springs.

25-FOOT FALL DISLOCATES BOY'S SPINE AND BREAKS ARM

St. Charles County Youth Was Trying to Shake Groundhog Out of Tree.

Albert Nolle, 19 years old, son of Henry Nolle, farmer residing in Green's Bottoms, six miles southwest of St. Charles, broke his right arm in two places and dislocated his spine between the shoulders yesterday afternoon when he fell 25 feet from an elm tree in trying to help his 'coon dog catch a groundhog. A physician took an X-ray picture of the injury today. His condition is serious.

Nolle drove to a pasture a mile from his home in his automobile in search of his dog. He found the dog under an elm tree watching a groundhog in the upper branches. He climbed into the tree to shake the groundhog down. The groundhog lunged at him, and in an endeavor to escape, Nolle caught his right foot in the fork of the tree, tore his shoe off and fell 25 feet to the ground. The groundhog climbed up a neighboring oak tree. Nolle crawled into his automobile and drove home.

FRANCE TO PUNISH TOURISTS WHO SLIGHT COLORED COLONIALS

Refusal of 4 Americans to Take Bus Seats With Cadets Probably Cause of Order.

By the Associated Press.—Foreign tourists, forgetting they are our guests and therefore bound to respect our customs and laws, recently on several occasions have forcibly manifested their aversion to seeing colored men, born in the French colonies, sit by their side in public places. If such incidents are repeated, punishment will be exacted.

Thus reads a note issued by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs last night. It probably was called forth by the recent refusal of four Americans to take bus seats with colored cadets from the Frejus military school who were visiting Paris as official guests.

Members of the Chamber of Deputies, including colored Deputies, lodged a protest with the Foreign Office.

PILES Cured KNIFE

No Cutting, No Chloroform, No Hospital, No Danger, No Loss of Time. CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE—TELL YOUR FRIENDS TO THOSE AFFLICTED WITH PILES, FISTULA OR FISSURE.

OPERATION NOT NECESSARY
Sufferers of Piles, Hemorrhoids, itching and protruding Piles, who fear the knife and who have not been relieved by continued and dreadful pain or bleeding will find comfort and quick relief in Dr. C. Matthew Coe's mild, gentle method of treatment—given at his office. It is a sure and guaranteed cure and has proven a blessing to thousands of sufferers. It's not necessary to go to a hospital and take that dangerous chloroform.

Piles are dangerous and should not be neglected. Medical authorities state that they often result in serious complications such as cancer, consumption, also often the cause of fistula, fissure, hemorrhage and rectal ulcers. Do not allow them to become complicated and rob you of your vitality, ambition and earning ability. Call at once or write today. My Pile Treatment is mild and soothing—it brings quick relief and cures to stay.

Mr. Jacob Mutter, 48 years old, a sufferer for 15 years, tells briefly his experience. "I got it in many ways. In your Don't delay, but come now and be cured. It will be worth money and comfort to you."

St. Louis, Mo., July 24, 1933.
Dr. C. Matthew Coe, 591 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo.

"You cured me of a bad case of Piles, which I have been afflicted 15 years. I suffered greatly all these years and paid out for treatments, suppositories, salves and all kinds of medicine, over four times as much as you charged me, and all for nothing. I was not cured perfectly. I called at your office about twice a week, while under treatment, and I did not lose one day's time from my work, while under treatment."

"Dr. Coe, since I am cured, my children and careful backache is gone, and I feel 20 years younger. I wish to thank you for the easy way you made it for me to pay you."

Your very grateful patient and friend,
JACOB MUTTER, 510 Grand St.

Why are you suffering when a positive guaranteed cure is so easily within your reach? Remember I give consultations and make examinations at my office FREE of charge and give today—it will pay you.

KATY'S NEW FREIGHT TERMINAL

Denison, Tex., Has Large Facilities for Handling Cars.
By the Associated Press.

DENISON, Tex., Aug. 1.—The blowing of a whistle was the only ceremony that marked the opening of what is claimed to be the largest double hump freight terminal west of the Mississippi River here today by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad. The new yards represent an investment of $3,500,000. It is stated, and include 60 miles of track, roundhouse of 22 stalls, and machine shops which cost $125,000. The yards cover several hundred acres. The switching yard proper is two miles long and 500 feet wide. The plot is a natural site for a hump yard, with gradual inclines and excellent drainage. A climb of 40 feet that was necessary at Ray-yards, the former distributing point of the Katy system, has been eliminated. Transfer sheds at the new terminal are 600 feet long, with a capacity of 60 cars. Modern offices have been erected. Housing facilities for train men and engine men also are included on the grounds. Laborers have their quarters and eating house. The Katy also has its own oil storage tanks with a capacity of 275,000 barrels.

TALKS DAILY OVER
KEOKUK POWER WIRES

Washington U. Professor Uses
110,000-Volt Cables in Wired Wireless System.

Conversations are being held daily over the 110,000-volt Keokuk power cables between the Page avenue and the St. Charles substations of the Union Electric Light & Power Co. by means of a wired wireless system which Roy L. Glasgow, assistant professor of the Washington University electrical engineering department, is perfecting at the Page avenue plant. The idea of "wired wireless" transmission of radio waves along high voltage wires, instead of through the air, with advantages of definite control of direction—was brought out 10 years ago by Major-General Scudder of the Signal Corps. His system has been patented by the North American Co., and glowing pictures have been painted of tired housewives listening to news, grand opera or jazz by simply plugging receiving sets into the light sockets.

Improves on Squier Plan.
The apparatus devised by Glasgow, however, comprises two important developments—a duplex system, by which two transmission wires are used so that one may talk and listen at the same time, using ordinary telephone transmitter and receiver; and a delicate relay system by which the incoming impulse switches in a local current to ring a bell as a calling signal. The transmitting set uses only two five-watt tubes. Wires at each terminal are stretched for about 500 feet parallel to the power cables. The radio impulses find the power wires easier going than the air, so follow them. However, should the wires be down for a mile or two, the wave carrying the conversation would bridge the gap.

Glasgow's hobby has been the radio station at the University. Last year, on leave of absence for some work at Harvard, he became interested in some of the problems involved in wired radio. It has taken him three weeks to bring his apparatus to its present stage. All that remains is to place the receiving and sending apparatus in a cabinet so that it may be operated from the company switchboard. This is no small job, because the apparatus is so delicate that juxtaposition of the wires may interfere with its working, and Glasgow said he would be a month longer at it.

Delicate Apparatus.
A feature of the relay system is a resistance of 2,000,000 ohms met by the incoming radio impulse. This acts as a dam, piling up the impulse and letting it go all at once in sufficient strength to operate a relay releasing current to light an incandescent bulb or ring a bell. The system is so delicate that when a finger is touched to a connection in the receiving circuit, the electrical energy in the body causes enough disturbance in the circuit to throw on the light which Glasgow at present uses as a signal. As a stable relation between the electrical charges in the body and the circuit is reached, the light goes out. Sitting, well insulated, on a wooden stool, Glasgow when the light went out, was able to throw it on again and again by stamping on the floor.

Extraordinarily Sensitive.
With the receiving set tuned in on K S D yesterday afternoon, the needle of an ammeter in the relay circuit oscillated with every word spoken by the announcer. Glasgow said that with painstaking adjustment he had had the set so that the light would flicker with every word at the broadcasting station. On another relay set, the light would "go crazy" when he pointed his finger at a connection, but that was altogether too sensitive.

The relay solves a big problem—that of a satisfactory calling system. By means of it, an operator may throw a switch to ring a signal bell in the station at Festus, or Washington or St. Charles. A system of a separate ring for each station, as on rural party telephone lines, or of a separate wave length for each station, may be used. "A few years in the future," Glasgow sees possibilities for development of the system beyond its use in communication. A certain high frequency impulse, for instance, might be sent out in case of wire or power trouble to throw a switch and remove a part of the load.

They found the translation in the with which the book was in each of these, the lettered, and underneath the Hoovers' familiar everything relating to mining tallies enabled them to see where the class failed. Thus they could object lettered A, for a sieve. Underneath, they got the word for the letter A.

By slow degrees, some to retrace their steps, design a wrong English object or words, they stock of words till the mastered the job. It was ing out a cipher in mystery tales.

The translation was 1911, five years after and the book was given in London, for circular their friends. A special was cast in imitation of the Latin text, special made for the book, and were engraved in exact of the originals. The printed in London in 11 beautifully made volumes, valuable as a bookmakers' art as well contents.

Burglars who entered the retail shop of the Stylebelle Garment Co.
on the sixth floor of the Marlin building, 323 Washington avenue, the evening of July 25, took merchandise valued at $10,163, on which there was no insurance, leaving behind only $1000 worth of goods, the entire remaining stock of the company. Merchandise taken, the president, reported to police last night.

Since the burglary, Present has been compiling an inventory to determine the amount of goods taken.
His report to police states that his purchases during April aggregated $12,000; purchases from April to July 1 were $1600, leaving a total of goods purchased or previously on hand at the end of June aggregating $13,600. Sales during that period were $14,000, but deliveries were only $12,500. An inventory following the burglary showed stock on hand valued at approximately $1600, from which Present figures that the burglars obtained more than $10,000 worth of goods.

The burglary was discovered about midnight when Present, after attending a performance of the Municipal Opera, was taken to the office by employees of a burglar alarm system. They sought to investigate the failure of the telegraphic burglar alarm instruments to register reports from the establishment. The burglar-party was discovered when Present with policemen opened the office.
The switch connecting the burglar alarm system, turned off during the day to permit opening of windows and doors, had not been turned on that evening.

WOMEN WHO KNOW FURS ARE PURCHASING AT GARLAND'S

Scores of women who have shopped elsewhere have made their final selection here—scores who looked here first have found it unnecessary to shop elsewhere.
The reason for this is not only the great savings offered, but the perfection of the furs, the ultra-smartness of the styles and the wide latitude of selection offered.

Why Buy Furs
In August?

The final garments of the season are always made of the richest, priciest skins. They are worked slowly and carefully—before the "rush" is on.
Early shoppings contain original models that are not duplicated later. New fur styles call for a tremendous number of pelts. Prices are advancing every day.

POPE WILL APPOINT DELEGATE TO TURKEY

Mgr. Filippi Will Visit Asia
Minor and Report on Holy Land Sanctuaries.

(Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

ROME, Aug. 1.—Satisfaction with the Lausanne peace is expressed in Vatican circles here today. It will enable the Pontiff to resume his eastern policy. The first papal action will be appointment of Mgr. Filippi, recently apostolic delegate to Mexico, to visit Turkey as a temporary substitute for the apostolic delegate to Constantinople.

Mgr. Filippi will visit all of Turkey and parts of Asia Minor no longer Turkish.

The Holy See's principal interest, however, is the Holy Land. The annulled treaty abolishes the stipulation for an inter-religious commission to assign sanctuaries. The Vatican was unable to agree with Greece and Great Britain on a plan for the composition, duties and powers of the commission so its organization was postponed indefinitely. It is not mentioned in the Lausanne treaty.

The correspondent hears that the Pope, after hearing the report of Mgr. Filippi, will participate in an international debate as to the fate of the sanctuaries.

DR. COOK INDICTED FOR AN ALLEGED OIL STOCK SWINDLE

Los Angeles Grand Jury Returns 33
Indictments Against Individuals and Two Companies.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—The Federal grand jury yesterday indicted 31 individuals and two companies in connection with alleged oil swindles in Texas, chiefly in and around Fort Worth.

The Revere Oil Co. and the Oil Operators' Trust were the Texas companies indicted. The individuals included Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who once said he had discovered the north pole. The defendants will be required to give bonds for their appearance for trial. It is stated, but the time and place have not been decided on.

A LITTLE BOY, not over six years of age, came in not long ago and opened a savings account with $5, remarking that it was the first deposit toward a home of his own.

If this is a fair example, the world will be safe in the hands of the next generation.

Are You Matching the March of Time?

Savings Department

TAKE a leaf from the book of Business, and set aside something against personal depreciation. The forward march seems fast, but it is really long and slow, and it gives you time. Deposit your surplus in a Mercantile savings account now—and it will take care of you when you cannot match the march of time.

Bond Department

WE ARE pleased to recommend the bonds of a Company whose product helps to build the nation's homes.

The Long-Bell Lumber Company was founded in 1875, by its present head. Its First Mortgage 6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series B, constitute, in our opinion, a very attractive investment. The bonds mature April 1, 1943, and are secured by first Mortgage on Long-Bell property, shown by their statement to be worth not less than 200% of the outstanding bonds.

Denominations, $100, $500, $1,000.

Price, 94 and accrued interest.

KLAN INFLUENCE SAID TO CAUSE SPLIT IN FRATERNITY

Fort Wayne (Ind.) Chapter Surrenders Its Charter in the Phi Delta Kappa.

By the Associated Press.
FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 1.—Efforts of a faction, said to be controlled by the Ku Klux Klan, to dominate the affairs of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity, a national young men's organization with a large membership in Indiana, is given as the reason why Iota Chapter, of Fort Wayne, organized 16 years ago, surrendered its charter yesterday.

J. Edward Spiegel, president of the chapter, said the organization would continue as an independent club under the direction of the old officers, who were re-elected at a meeting last night, when the decision to separate from the national fraternity was reached.

2 KILLED IN AIRPLANE FALL

Tennessee National Guard Flyers Couldn't Get Out of Tail Spin.

By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 1.—Lieut. Charles J. Rascoe and Sergt. Clee Cook, both of Franklin, Tenn., national guard, were killed at Robert Field in Birmingham late yesterday when the airplane in which they were flying fell about 200 feet and burst into flames. They were on route from Nashville to Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., for maneuvers.

by officers who saw the accident as its cause. According to Capt. Charles G. Blackard of Nashville, in command of a detail of three planes en route to Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Lieut. Rascoe and Sergt. Cook were about 300 to 400 feet up when the machine stalled on a bank and went into the spin.

"That's Why I Am Careful About My Hands While Cooking"

Scene: A fresh, bright, modern kitchen

Place: Perhaps in your neighborhood

Time: This afternoon—just before dinner

Mrs. Youngwife is thinking aloud:

"When mother taught me her kitchen secrets she missed only one point.

"Burnished pans, a fresh-scrubbed ice-box, spotless sink and stove are awfully important. So are the cheerful white walls and clean windows. They help make cooking a pleasure.

"But I honestly believe that lecturer at the club told us the most important thing of all.

"My goodness! Millions of germs can collect on the tip of one fingernail. They are brought into my kitchen on vegetables, much handled fruit, packages from the stores, on greasy milk bottles—in fact on anything that many hands have touched. Flies, too, are a danger. And those germs will get into the food unless I rid my hands of them. I can't be too careful of my hands during cooking hours if I am to protect the health of Daddy and the youngsters.

"Clean hands! I now use Lifebuoy Health Soap constantly while cooking.

"It seems that in Mother's day clean hands were hands which were not dirty.

"Clean hands today are hands which have been purified.

"And Lifebuoy certainly does keep the skin in wonderful condition—soft, smooth and white."

What is Lifebuoy Health Soap?

A germicidal action without irritation! A soap that creates beautiful skin by the simple perfection of its deep, healing, cleansing action! A deodorant which removes the cause of skin odors—overcomes them at their source! "If you are a normal woman, busy in a hundred places each day, shaking hands, telephoning, brushing against people, resting your hands upon the dirty surfaces of any number of objects—you are germ-contaminated. That is, until the deadly microbes have been removed.

You, too, should see that Health Soap is used frequently during cooking hours. The best thing about Lifebuoy is that it can be used constantly without damaging the fine-textured skin. The famous Lifebuoy health substance resists as it purifies.

You will love the wholesome Lifebuoy health odor. Place a cake every place where there is running water. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

PRESIDENT HARDING ON HORSEBACK
A picture of the President taken at Eden Canyon, Utah, on his way to Alaska.

FIVE NEW ST. LOUIS FLYERS
Members of the Eighth Attack Wing of the Sixth Army who have just completed a two weeks' course for Air Service Reserve officers at Richards Field, near Kansas City. From left to right, they are: Lieutenants James Brennan, Lawrence Addington, Grover Godwin, F. C. Whiting and E. L. Werner. The plane is a De Havilland.

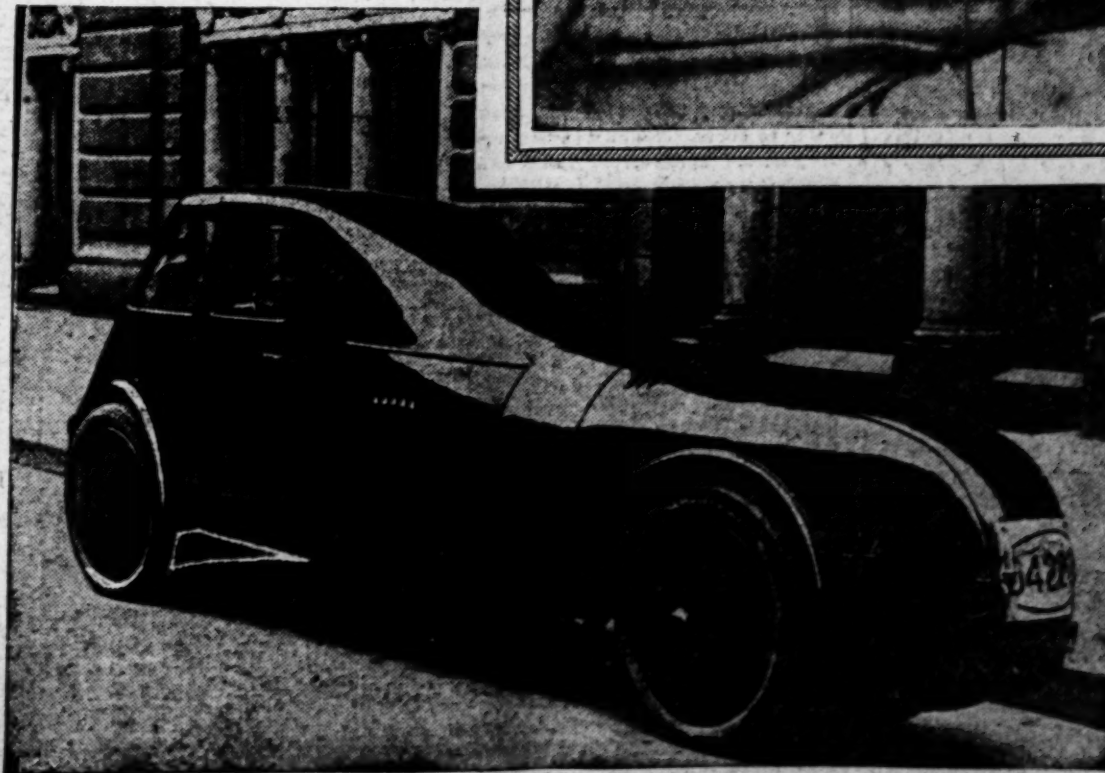

Excavating by steam shovels on South Twelfth street, just south of Chouteau avenue, for the new asphalt paving to be laid on Twelfth from Chouteau to Soular street. At the left of the picture is Eleventh street, which carried traffic at this point before Twelfth was opened, about three and a half years ago. The cost of the work will be $90,330. The city's share, $9350, will be paid from the $87,000,000 bond issue. This new paving will replace a temporary surface laid when this stretch of Twelfth was opened about three and a half years ago, and will form a link in the proposed great boulevard to extend from the northwestern city limits, east to Twelfth, south on Twelfth to connect with Gravois, and thence to the southwestern limits.

When Loved Ones Return By WINIFRED BLACK.

THREE sisters met in a Middle West city the other day. One was 91, one was 85, and the other was a giddy young thing of 80. They hadn't seen each other for 60 years.

The 91-year-old sister lives on a fruit ranch in California. She raises prunes, English walnuts and raisins. She has a flower garden and a vegetable garden, and when she wants to make a little lemonade, she steps out to the back porch and picks a lemon or two—and there you are.

The 85-year-old sister lives on a farm in Illinois. Her husband raises corn and pigs, and there's a big pair of elm trees at the gate, and the petunia bed of the 85-year-old sister is famous in seven counties. Also she takes the prize for breadmaking at the county fair every year, and one year she got the blue ribbon for a fancy quilt.

The youngest among the sisters lives in New York City. Her son owns a hotel there and she occupies a fine suite of rooms. And all the people in the hotel come and tell her their troubles.

And what do you suppose those three sisters talked about when they met the other day for the first time in 60 years?

What They Talked About.

About religion? About the next world? About the new fashions? About flappers and their ways?

Not at all!

They talked about the time they ran away from school and took off their shoes and stockings and went wading in the pond in the Smiths' pasture, and one of the boys came and made a raft for them, and they played castaway sailors and never knew when the sun set and the village was out after them. And each one blamed it on the other, and Ninety-one stuck to it that Eighty-five took off her shoes first, and Eighty-five would have it that Eighty said: "Come on! What do we care for the old teacher?" and started the whole thing.

And one of the grandchildren had to come in and settle the dispute. What would you talk about if you could see your sister today, the one who married and left for another state 10 years ago?

She didn't get home to mother's funeral, did she? Would you get out your mother's pictures and tell her just when it was you noticed that mother was failing?

Would you talk about the time when you were little together, and how you always wished your hair would curl like hers? Or would you tell her about your little girl and the marks she's had at school, and ask her what she really thinks about the new reduction recipe that you've been trying out for the last week or so?

What would you have to say to your brother, the one who waved good-by to you from the steps and never came back again—never?

Would you tell him how lonely you've been without him, and how sorry you are that you never really understood him until he was gone?

What Would You Say?

Or would you just say:

"Hello, Jim; set your umbrella out on the porch! Don't bring all that mess into the living room!"

What queer dumb and deaf and blind folks we all are—for all our great wisdom and our great training and our great education.

We never say the things we really want to say. We never hear the things we really ought to hear. We never see the things we really would love to see, until it is too late.

What would you say to your sister, if she opened the door and came in to sit an hour with you today?

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Nanny Meadow Mouse Fears for Danny.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Be sure test you shall find, mayhap,
Security but prove a trap.

NANNY MEADOW MOUSE had not gone over to the Green Meadows for breakfast with Danny Meadow Mouse that morning. She had intended to go over a little later. Before starting she climbed up on the shoulder of the old scarecrow in which they were making their home. She didn't have any particular reason for doing it. She didn't know why she did it. But she did it, and it was well she did.

From her perch there she could look over the growing corn and see the Green Meadows. Almost at once she saw something black moving in the tall grass on the edge of the Green Meadows. At first she didn't know what it was, but in a moment she got a good view.

"Black Pussy!" exclaimed Nanny. "Black Pussy! My, I'm glad I came up here instead of going over there for my breakfast!" Then she remembered that Danny was already over there, and her heart almost stopped beating with fright.

She saw Black Pussy suddenly crouch down and begin to steal swiftly through the tall grass. Then Black Pussy sprang. Nanny shut her eyes. She just couldn't look. When she opened them again Black Pussy was moving swiftly through the grass, and every moment or two making a spring as if trying to pounce on some one. Nanny knew that that someone was Danny.

"Oh! Oh!" squeaked Nanny each time that Black Pussy jumped.

Presently she noticed that Black Pussy was headed toward the fence post at the foot of which lay the old tin can in which Danny had so wanted to have their home. She understood then that Danny was running for this. And how she did hope that he would get there in time! She couldn't see Danny because he was so small that he was hidden in the grass. But she saw Black Pussy make that spring which so nearly caught Danny as he dodged into that old can. Had Black Pussy caught him?

In a moment or two Black Pussy

"Black Pussy!" exclaimed Nanny.

answered that question for her. She could tell by Black Pussy's actions that Danny was safely inside that old can. She saw Black Pussy put her paw in, trying to reach Danny. Then Black Pussy snatched that out and snarled angrily.

"Danny bit her!" thought Nanny. "He bit Black Pussy's paw! I guess she won't try that again very soon."

Black Pussy didn't. Instead, she crouched down just to one side of that old can, and there she remained without moving save that the tip of her tail kept twitching. Nanny sighed with relief. Danny was safe.

But presently Nanny became anxious again. With every minute that passed she grew more anxious. Black Pussy was still there watching. There was no way for Danny to know that she was still there. She was where he couldn't see her by peeping out. If Black Pussy was patient long enough Danny would be sure to think that all danger was over and come out. Nan-

WRESTLING DANGERS GROW

By Wm. A. McKeever

ONE boy, 16, with a broken wrist.

One boy, 17, with shoulder out of joint.

One boy, 18, with thigh muscles badly sprained.

There is a wrestling craze on among the younger boys and youths. Tens of thousands of them are getting into the ring or else helping to form it.

Unfortunately, this younger crowd is going into the game soft and green, and many of them are getting hurt. What can be done about it?

If wrestling is a legitimate sport the younger generation has a right to it. Indeed, the age of keenest emotional interest in feats of strength is probably 17 or 18. It is then the youth experiences what seems like a superhuman power of muscle and limb, and his whole being cries out for a chance to exploit his new energy.

However, wrestling puts a greater strain upon the body than even football, which until recently was our most dangerous popular game. But, after maiming many green youths with football, we have finally learned how to bring the players to their positions on the teams by and through a long course of training.

In so far as the reports are coming in up to date the colleges and high schools are lagging behind in their responsibility for meeting the issue here defined. Indeed, the majority of these institutions are undecided as to whether to recognize the sport at all or not.

First of all, there is need for regional and local conferences of physical instructors to determine the proper place of wrestling in college and high school sports. As yet, many are inclined to regard it as belonging to the professional class of sports and outside their sphere of jurisdiction.

After the place of youthful wrestling has been decided upon, then the mode of training and the rules of the game for amateurs will demand much serious thought.

He had made all other preparations. He had even communicated secretly, by means of a fellow convict who was going out, discharged, with Square John Kelly of the Pacific Coral Saloon in San Francisco, with whom he had invested his savings—that three thousands dollars at 6 per cent. And he had had fore-sight enough to do this months ago in order to give Kelly time to pull the money out of his business and have it ready in cash; for he wasn't quite sure where the law stood on this point. Failing to recover the proceeds of the Tyndeman robbery, the law might confiscate those savings—if the law knew anything about them. But the law didn't—and wouldn't. Square John had sent back word that everything was all right.

But there was still one problem left to solve—the way, once he was a free man again and outside these walls, of getting that hundred thousand dollars away from under the noses of the police and then giving the police the slip. And this, grown to monumental proportions in the last few months, rose before him now like some evil familiar that had taken possession of both his waking and sleeping hours. And there came upon him now, as it had come again and again in these last months, that scene in the hospital when he had first opened his eyes to consciousness and they had rested on the face of the man who had run him to earth—Barjan, Lieutenant Joe Barjan, of the Frisco plain-clothes squad. And Joe Barjan's words were ringing in his ears now; ringing, somehow, with a cursed knell in them:

"Don't fool yourself! It's a hell of a long time in the pen! And if you think you could get away with the wad when you get out again, you've got another think coming, too! Take it from me!"

An acute sense of the realization of the tangibility of his surroundings seized upon him and brought a chill to his heart. That hard, unyielding cot; these walls, that caged him within their few scanty feet of space; his keepers' voices, that lashed out their commands; the animals, of which he was one, that tolled upon the eternal treadmill of days whose end but foretold another of like horror and loathing to come! Barjan had told the truth; more of the truth than Barjan ever knew, or could know, that he had told. It had been a hell of a long time. Long! His face, as he still paced the cell, grayed under the prison pallor. God, it had been long! Years of damnable torment that had shut him out from the freedom that he loved! It had been a price beyond all reckoning that he had paid for that hundred thousand dollars. But he had paid it! He had paid it—paid it! He had gone all the way—gone the limit. Was Barjan, right in one thing, right in that other thing as well—that at the end they would beat him?

His hands curled into knotted lumps. There were not enough Barjans for that though the world were peopled with Barjans! The thought had brought a chill of dread for a moment, that was all. He had paid the price; he was not likely to forget what that price had been; and he would never yield up what that price had bought. True, he had no plan for this last play of his worked out in detail, but he would find a way—because he must. He was probably exaggerating what the police would, or could do, anything! At first when he had come into the penitentiary, they had tried to trap, sometimes to wheedle him into disclosing where the money was, though they had long since given up those tactics and left him to himself. But suppose the police did watch him now when he got out. He could afford to wait—to wait a long while—until the police got tired, perhaps, or perhaps came to the conclusion that, after all, they had got the wrong man. They would not forget that, though he had refused to say anything at the trial.

Two dozen large prunes, cottage cheese, chopped nut meat, French dressing. Wash prunes and soak over night in just enough water to cover. Simmer gently until tender. Drain from juice and carefully remove stones without crushing the fruit. Stuff with cottage cheese, sprinkle with chopped nut meats and serve on lettuce with French dressing. Mayonnaise dressing mixed with whipped cream is also nice with this salad.

PEA SALAD

DRAIN the juice off of one can of peas, then add 1 cup of salted peanuts, 4 small pickles, diced, 1 pimento, 2-3 cup of cheese and some mayonnaise dressing. This makes a very good salad and does not cost much.

PRUNE AND CHEESE SALAD

By's fear for Danny grew and grew. "Oh dear! Oh dear! Oh dear! If only I could do something," she kept saying over and over to herself. "If only I could warn him. He mustn't come out! He mustn't! He mustn't!"

ROAD CONDITIONS

When you are tired of bumpy, oily, congested roads, ride downtown to Seventh and Olive and cool off with a portion of C. C. Card-Zeller ice cream, or a handy cool fountain special, or some good food. Open until midnight. The roads are always good.

He had not been so mute in his attitude toward Rusty Mott and Baldy Vickers, who had "sent him up"; and Barjan would not forget, either, that in the hospital that day, with scarcely strength to speak, he had threatened to get even with the gangster and the runt. There was a psychological factor in this. If he, Dave Henderson, made no effort to get the money, showed no sign that he had any knowledge of its whereabouts, might not the police in time come to the far from illogical conclusion that they might better have watched—five years ago—the men who had so glibly acted as witnesses for the State, the men who had, admittedly, themselves attempted to steal the money? It wasn't unreasonable, was it? And he could afford to wait. The three thousand dollars from Square John Kelly would keep him going for quite a while! He was a fool to let this thing madden his brain with its constant torturing doubts. It was their move—not his.

From far along the iron gallery again a boot-heel rang with a dull, metallic sound. It was the guard, probably, coming to rap old Tony Lomazzi over the knuckles. Dave Henderson stopped his restless pacing, and stood still in the center of the cell to listen. No, the old bomb-thrower wasn't talking any longer; there wasn't any sound at all except that boot-heel ringing on the iron flooring. The sound came nearer, and Dave Henderson frowned in a puzzled way. The guard was not alone, in any case. He could distinguish the footsteps of two men now. It wasn't usual at this hour for any one to be out there with the guard. What was in the wind? The Warden, perhaps, making an unexpected round, or—

His hands gripped suddenly hard and tight—but he did not move. There came flashing over him once more the scene in that hospital ward of five years ago. The cell door had opened and closed. A man had entered. The guard's footsteps died away outside. The man spoke:

"Hello, Dave!"

It was Barjan, Lieutenant Joe Barjan of the Frisco plain-clothes squad. It was the scene of five years ago. That was exactly what Barjan had said then: "Hello, Dave!" And he had answered: "Hello, Joe!" But he did not answer now.

"This is a little irregular, Dave," said Barjan pleasantly; "but I wanted to have a quiet little chat with you, you know, before"—he stepped forward and clasped his hand on Dave Henderson's shoulder, and laughed—"well, before you changed your address."

Dave Henderson made no reply. He moved back from the other, and sat down on the edge of his cot.

"There's a couple of things I want to say to you," said Barjan, still pleasantly. "And the first of them is that I want to tell you on the level just where you stand. You're going out of here pretty soon now, Dave. I guess you've got a better line on that than I have—eh?" He laughed again good-humoredly. "Get the days counted, haven't you, Dave?"

No answer. Dave Henderson's eyes were fixed on the ungainly lines of the toe of his prison boot. "Oh, come on, now, Dave!" Barjan's tones were still hearty and jocular, but the heartiness and jocularly, as though disconcerted, lacked some of their original spontaneity. "Loosen up! You've been a clam for five years. That's long enough. I've come up here tonight to play square with you. You know that whatever I say goes with both of us. I know you aren't holding anything against me personally just because I happened to be the one who put the bracelets on you, and back of that we used to be pretty good friends. I haven't forgotten the tips you used to give me in the old days—and don't you think I have, either! Remember when that old skeleton with the horse-hair coverer pranced away with a forty-to-one shot? Bonnie Lass, her name was—or was it Boney? Remember? She got the hee-haw—but my mis-sus got the swellest outfit of gew-gaws and fixings the old girl ever had before or since. You wisd me up to that, Dave."

No answer. There seemed to be something curiously significant in the uncouthness and the coarseness of that boot toe—but the significance was irritatingly elusive in its application.

There was silence for a moment. Barjan walked the length of the cell, and back again.

To Be Continued in the Post-Dispatch.

EGG BALL SALAD

B OIL four eggs—hard-boiled, cut lengthwise, yolks and mash with a onion, one-half teaspoon onion, salt, pepper and five finely chopped walnuts. Form into balls with the range the whites cut around. Serves four.

NEAPOLITAN SANDWICHES

P OUND to a paste three tablespoons of blanched pistachio nuts or almonds. Chop three tablespoons of candied cherries very fine and mix a little soft icing, honey or melted fondant until it is the right consistency to spread. Rub to a paste one-third cup of dates and one tablespoon of pecans that have been ground with the finest blade of the food chopper. Butter four large, thin slices of bread with crust removed and spread the nut paste on one, the cherry paste on another and the date paste on the third. Pile them up in the order given, and put the fourth slice on top with buttered side down. Press together, and with a sharp knife cut through from the top down, making slices one-third of an inch thick. If preferred, these sandwiches may be made of brown and white bread, alternating the colors.

Here Are the Reasons Why Your Teeth Start to Decay

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IN America we take infinite pains to maintain the means of education. We take pride in our schools. We think education is the greatest thing in the world. We insist on the children going to school. To make it certain that every child shall have the privilege, we pass "compulsory attendance" laws and provide "truant officers" to enforce them. The only accepted excuse for absence is sickness.

This is all as it should be. But in spite of truant laws, every schoolroom shows vacant seats each day. Illness keeps away a large number of pupils.

Unless you have investigated the causes of school absences, you will be astonished at what I am about to tell you. Forty per cent are due to ulcerated and aching teeth! The same power that compels attendance at school should compel children to have good teeth. Decayed and ulcerated teeth are inexcusable. They are inexcusable because they are preventable.

Nobody should have any disease he can prevent. Bad teeth can and should be prevented.

Ulceration or abscess is due to decay of a tooth, or "caries," as the dentist calls the condition. Caries is a disease of civilization. It did not occur when men were barbarians, and it increased as they progressed in civilized arts and customs. The effect of civilization on certain African tribes is significant. For instance, one tribe less than two generations ago had caries prevalent to the extent of 1 per cent. In two groups of these same natives, living under the conditions of civilization, 95 per cent were recently found to have caries.

The tooth is well made to resist disease. It is covered with a very hard and compact substance, the enamel. But like every other material in nature, this dense substance can be destroyed. It gives way to the attacks made against it by the acids formed through the fermentation of food.

The mouth swarms with germs. This is no wonder, because we put almost everything in the world into it, including our own dirty fingers. Some of these germs have the power to convert certain foods into lactic acid. Sugar and starches are the particular foods which may be acted upon in this way. Let us consider for a moment the "sticky" foods of this sort—chocolates, biscuit, fresh bread, cake, pie crust, caramels.

Suppose we eat such food at night and go to bed without cleansing the teeth. Immediately the acid-forming germs of the mouth go to work on this material lodged on our teeth. Enough acid will be produced to cut off a layer or two of enamel. Tomorrow the process is repeated and after a while a cavity is eaten into a good tooth. Thus caries begins.

Proper eating and the use of the toothbrush form the first line of defence against tooth decay.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

Perfumes.

SOME people send to foreign lands for odors strange and rare, they like the odd, exotic brands from flowers that blossom there. They must have scents from Mandalay that bear a hint of musk or subtle fragrance from Cathay like lilybuds at dusk. Men take ten thousand snowy blooms and crush each glowing heart to make the delicate perfumes where nature blends with art. Some people murmur: "Ah, how sweet, like scents from Araby!" but cloverblossoms at my feet are sweeter far to me. I do not love the amber gleam that costly vials hold, the liguids that like sunlight beam, worth thrice their weight in gold. Nor do I very greatly prize these scents from overseas; my taste is like the butterfly's and like the bandit bee's. For I prefer the daisy-field, the spice-pink, dewy-wet, the incense that the plum-blossoms yield, the breath of mignonette.

Yes, dearer than the heavy sweet of flowers from 'far Cathay, I hold the clovers at my feet, the scent of new-mown hay. So, let who will have rare perfumes, choice odors, strangely blent; give me the simple, homely blooms and I am well content. Some praise the charm that distance lends, but I like well known things; the violets are like old friends from haunts by moss-bound springs. While men will send a thousand miles for attar of the rose, I choose the faint, elusive wiles of some old garden-close. I ask no magic than can rise from scents of far away, for best I love the sweet that lies in fields of new-mown hay.

The Pride of Every Woman

HAVEN'T you often wished that the kiddies' clothes and the table-cloths, curtains, and other wash fabrics wouldn't soil so easily?

Your wish can be realized! Starch with Linit—the remarkable new starch.

New Starch Discovery

LINIT is a scientific starch discovery—distinctly different from old-fashioned starches. It was originally made for the makers of fine fabrics who had to secure the finest possible finish.

Now, for the first time, it is offered to the housewife. With Linit you can get the same wonderful finish you have always admired in goods that come direct from the store.

Linit gives a soft, cool, pliable finish to your garments. And you will find your Linit-starched clothes and fabrics remain clean and fresh much longer. Also, Linit makes even ordinary cotton goods look and feel like expensive linen.

Important to You

LINIT makes a THIN "MILKY" MIXTURE, free-running like water, which is quickly absorbed by the fabric, thus saving the time and labor of "smearing on," which was customary with old-fashioned starches. The Linit mixture does not present the stiff, jelly-like appearance of ordinary starch. This is why you will find it much easier to iron with Linit.

Your grocer now has Linit, 10c

This diagram explains itself. The CERTO process not only produces more and better Jam and Jelly but at less cost, in less time, and with less labor. The old method for Jam and Jelly making called for long boiling. The CERTO process calls for only one minute's boiling—thus the flavor, color and aroma of the delicious ripe fruit are retained. The most delicious Jam and Jelly ever tasted!

There are no failures—no wasted peaches by the CERTO process. Try the CERTO process and be convinced.

CERTO is a pure fruit product—not a preservative and contains no preservative. It is sold by grocers everywhere. Recipe book of 76 recipes wrapped with every tin.
